Description

Guess-a-Graphy was a thrilling and intellectually engaging quiz competition that tested participants' knowledge of the corporate world through three dynamic rounds.

- In Round 1, participants were challenged to identify logos of various popular companies, testing their visual recognition and brand awareness.
- Round 2 turned up the heat by asking selected contestants to guess the names of CEOs from well-known global corporations, putting their business knowledge and current affairs insight to the test.
- In the final and most exciting Round 3, qualified participants had to match famous slogans with the brands or individuals who coined them, drawing on both memory and quick thinking.

The event was designed to be fun, fast-paced, and informative—perfect for anyone with a passion for branding, business leaders, and marketing trivia.
